

1876. CENTENIAL Transportation Arrangements OF THE Great Atlantic Coast Line! FOR THE ACCOMMODATION OF VISITORS TO ALL POINTS SOUTH

The Railways and Steamship Companies between Augusta, Ga., and Philadelphia, comprising the ATLANTIC COAST LINE, will during the progress of the present for the patronage of the citizens of the South, routes of transportation and forms of tickets upon which to reach Philadelphia, that will immeasurably excel all other lines in point of Direct Daily Movement, Comfortable Accommodation, Variability of Transit, Economy of Expenditure.

To enable this to be done, the combined resources of the RAILWAY LINES SOUTH OF NORFOLK, together with those of the BALTIMORE & ANNE ARUNDEL CANAL and the OLD DOMINION STEAMSHIP COMPANY will be employed and the individual routes, the social party of ten, twenty or more, or the civic or military organization of 100 to 300, can each be cared for in a manner that will satisfy their desires.

Price Lists, Time Cards and all useful information are now in hands of all Agents of the Atlantic Coast Line.

It will be to the interest of every individual and each organization proposing to make this trip to communicate with the undersigned.

A Centennial Exhibition Guide Book as authorized by the Commission will be given to the purchaser of each Centennial Ticket.

Call on or address the following named Agents of the Atlantic Coast Line: J. H. White, Macon; A. L. Reed, Savannah; H. V. Tompkins, Atlanta; M. J. Divine, Macon; W. J. Walker, Montgomery.

Manhood: How Lost! How Restored!

Just published a new edition of DR. CLEVELAND'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the various causes (without exception) of Spermatorrhea or White Discharge, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every young man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post paid, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps.

Fading, Changing, Dying.

Everything beautiful, dear, must fade; The rose and the lily, the pride of the field; And myrtle, which hides the rude marks of the spade, Where low down are sleeping, will all have to yield.

To time's busy gleaner, who gathers the leaves And unopened buds in the forest and plain, To carefully bind them in bundles and sheaves, And carry them off to return no again.

Everything beautiful, dear, must change; The woodland, the meadow, and course of the stream, These scenes now familiar, ere long will seem strange.

And only be thought of as seen in a dream, Or pictures of memory long lung away, And faded by age, or the dust of the past, Each moment of pleasure refuses to stay, The voice of the zephyr is lost in the blast.

Everything beautiful, dear, must die, And that which increases will surely decay. The sturdy oak and the tall deep hemlock, The song and the singer will both have to cease.

Yet there is a hope that each beautiful thing— Though not in this life—"will have being once more; The heart, 'tis the ivy, to loved ones will cling, When fallen, and creep to eternity's shore.

Everything beautiful, dear, must fade, Must change and must die, be it never as grand; Your time has the day in his own coming hand, The spirit immortal he humblyeth not, He builds, though, and crumbles its dwelling of clay, When every thing earthly, and time is forgot, The spirit will laugh at the thought of decay.

PERSIMMON BLOSSOMS

What interjection is of the feminine gender?—A-las!

It falsehood paralyzed the tongue, what a death-like silence would pervade society.

Accommodating a friend with a fifty dollar note is an ex-lent way of getting rid of money.

The extreme height of misery is a small boy with a new pair of boots and no mud puddle.

Cool drinks—Those taken at another fellow's expense, without invitation.

Soliloquy by a tippler—The public always notices you when you have been drinking, and never when you are thirsty.

The sun's rays focus on the earth about this season of the year, and those are the reasons for its being hot enough to scorch a paper collar.

Painting the Lily—Generous shoe-black (colored gentleman): "Better we are done, sir; I'll touch up yer face, too, for the same, sir."

Henry Waterson poetically says that life is "water gone to sleep." It has every opportunity for going to sleep, while Henry Waterson is around.

You cannot convince a dog with a string of fire-crackers attached to his narrative that the American republic is a complete success.

"Have you much fish in your bag?" asked a person of a fisherman. "Yes, there's a good deal in 'em," was the rather slippery reply.

"You are a nuisance. I'll commit you," said an official judge to a noisy person in court. "You have no right to commit a nuisance," said the offender.

A young lady, following a Shakespearean play with the book, remarked to her companion: "How imperfect those actors are! None of them say 'exit' when they go off."

A person who was sent to prison for marrying two wives, excused himself by saying that when he had one she fought him, but when he got two they fought each other.

"Mrs. Spinks," observed a boarder to his landlady, "the equal adjustment of this establishment could be more safely secured if there was less hair in the wash and more in the mattresses."

It wasn't a loaded Onondaga county preacher who recently said: "Brezzer, ezzeiser for a emul—hie—go strong to knee of an idol, zan for hie—a rich man to live—lie—pearably with his muzzer-in-law."

An Illinois judge has decided that a washing bill cannot be collected, and any experienced washerwoman will tell him that he is right six times out of ten, which is probably better than the average of his decisions.

It is supposed that the reason graduates of female colleges are called bachelors of art instead of maids of art, is that the former is a higher degree. At least the maids are always after the bachelors.

This is the way a citizen of Denver advertises for a lost calf: "Rund away—I Red and vits cat. His tu he hint leg was black, he was a shob cat. Enyotvi vat vring him pak pair 5 tollars. Jacob zudderling, Clear Creek, two miles point the bridge."

"Is it not time that you paid me that five dollars?" said the farmer to his neighbor. "Taint due," was the reply. "But," said the farmer, "you promised to pay when you got back from New York." "Well, I hain't been," was the reply.

A gentleman who had been dining out the night before went into a barber's shop one morning to be shaved. He saw that the barber had been taking more drink than was good for him, for it made his hand shake very much; and his customer, naturally indignant, began to give him a little moral advice, by saying: "Bad thing drink!" "Yes," said the barber, "It makes the skin unco' tender."
